IP Plus Telecommunications

The service provides communication in the company, from a single phone number to more complex solutions of a telecommunications centre in the cloud

Service description:

The service provides communication in the company, from a single phone number to more complex solutions of a telecommunications centre in the cloud. Many additional functions allow to adjust the service to your own preferences in order to fully address the company's needs.

Range of the service:

Selected features of IP Plus Telecommunications:

- voicemail
- efax
- call recording
- answering machine (ivr)
- call queues
- shortened and internal numbering
- selective routing of calls
- waiting calls
- advanced call forwarding
- enquiry groups
- call parking
- management of the limits on outgoing calls
- differentiation of internal calls
- music on hold
- catalogue of numbers (name calling)
- access to service management via a web interface
- on-line billing available via a web panel
- additional protection from telecommunications abuse

Benefits of the service:

Constructing a telecommunications solution in a cloud allows flexible management of voice communication services. The service allows to protect the organisation against various breakdowns, connected to the power and network access. Any Internet access is enough to comfortably manage voice communication in the company via the web interface. Wide range of terminal equipment (IP phones, voice gateways) additionally extends possibilities offered within the IP Plus Telecommunications service.
